Meet the Photographer

June 2021 Panchangani
Self Portrait

Stories makes me feel alive

In a small little cottage at Panchangani Hill station, we were cooped up as it was raining outside.

It was chilly outside and my son wanted to watch his favorite movie, wanted to remember the warmth it felt to hold him while we watched it together.

This is what I do for you. You tell me what holds special to you and I capture them for you..

Forced Smiles to embracing tantrums

Before becoming a storytelling photographer

I was a Studio Photographer till 2019, when I saw parents forcing kids to sit in between props to get some pretty pictures. It felt unsettling and wrong.

It seems unnatural. Instead of sitting in front of props, kids wanted to play, explore things around them, run around, throw tantrums, be loved by parents

So I closed the studio, sold props and started sessions, which are 'Kid-Centric'.

Told parents - We do what kids want to do. No good behavior expected. Started asking parents what's special to them instead of imposing 'pre-determined poses'

Well, when our life is filled with all emotions, then why not capture them just the way it is..

Nov 2023 Bangalore
Maternity Session

It was so comfortable working with Durga. We are the couple who hates posing or staging shots for the camera and love candid photography. Durga gave us all that and more. The pictures are beautiful and capture our true essence.

Maternity is a beautiful and challenging phase and Durga was very accommodating. She always ensured mother to be was comfortable and gave us great suggestions, not limited to just the photoshoot. I will be able to look back at our pictures and see us, captured in time, with an under construction home, going for our croissant and coffee dates when it was just the two of us, and of course a bun in the oven.

I would definitely recommend her to anyone who is not looking for a typical maternity photoshoot, with the studio setup. She is very reasonable, went above and beyond for us, and gave us such beautiful memories caught on film. I will be requesting her for my baby's pictures and ceremonies in future.

Thank you so much Durga!

Storyteller* before anything else

Since last few months, my son has this night time routine of having warm milk before sleep..

The whole routine is filled with cute little talks and one night found him demanding things during our visit to his Ammuma's house ( Grandmother ).

Took few minutes to admire the cute shenanigans and later grabbed my camera to capture this without him knowing..

I believe in seeing happiness in smaller things.

Few things which might surprise you about me

- I have only 10 photos/month of my family
- Hate constant phone photos, if I do will do with intention to print it out.
- Believe in living in the moment rather than giving in to urge to capture it all the time
- Camera shy & hate when everybody is on phone all the time
